

Solutions; Where are they?

As the people of God who live in the world of economical, relational, political and social problems, what is the role of faith communities as a whole? Are we to believe we are as powerless in this world? Do we sit back in a fearful stance and ring our hands with no hope? Do we have a God who isn't interested in helping and has left us to fend for ourselves? So many questions run through our minds in times of un-certainty.

I had a dream a while ago and in it, these people were caught up with a book that was being passed around and they were all bewitched with its power. All of a sudden, I knew the name of the book. It was entitled "The Lost Art of Begging". It was very apparent that they were all under its power. Could this be a strong delusion that a lot of God's people are under?

I was speaking at a meeting recently and out of my mouth blurted; "It's time for The Solution to be applied to the eyes of the Body of Christ"; it was a forceful proclamation and I knew I had to ponder what I heard. My prayerful pondering has made me ask, 'Are we as the people of God, trapped in some un-righteous realm that has us in captivity to "The Lost Art of Begging"? Are we trapped in a vortex of error, that keeps us not knowing who we are and the power made available to us as 'sons & daughters' of a Royal Power of righteousness to decree into things around our world and see transformation of the Kingdom kind?

Where are the "Solutionists" who haven't allowed the log jams of disasters and collapses to possess their vision? They have had eye salve applied to their 'perceiver' and decree solutions to all spheres of society.

We have to pursue the LORD to bring us out of all un-righteous realms and influences, so we can see answers come to the godlessness running through the veins and hearts of the Cities/Nations. Oh Father in Heaven, turn on the 'Light of Your Son' to show us how to come out from amongst the influences of darkness to be free Light Bearing and Light Breathing Solutionists to a decaying world around us.
